

Innovative products for monitoring and decontamination-detoxification of nerve agents and explosives in the environment and/or for emergency management (BIODEFENSOR).

Obtaining, through the application of innovative biotechnological, chemical and engineering approaches that can be used to address problems of considerable interest from a social and economic point of view in the area of citizen safety, emergency management and the preservation of environmental resources.